

There's nothing worse than a boring research project that your students don't enjoy...

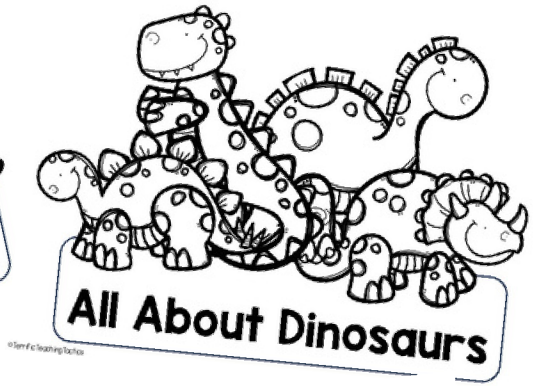

...but kids love dinosaurs! That's why this is the perfect research project.

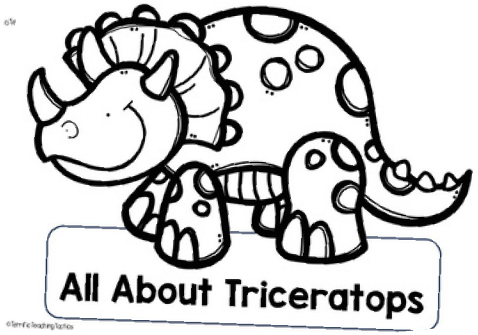

Not only should your students be excited by the topic, they should also enjoy the activities.

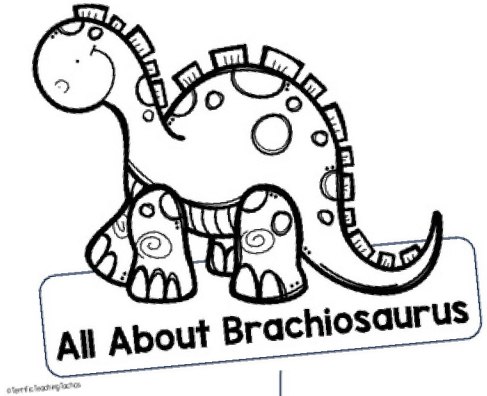

That's why this project has fun graphic organizers and cute crafts!

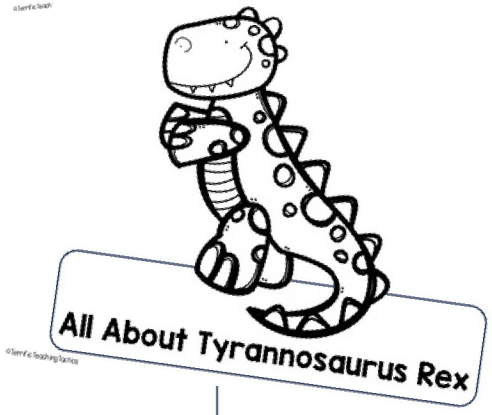

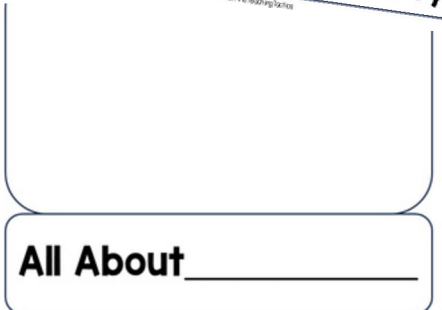

Students can research dinosaurs in general or a specific dinosaur. Triceratops, stegosaurus, brachiosaurus, and t.rex are featured in this resource. There's also a blank option for other dinosaurs.

Version 1

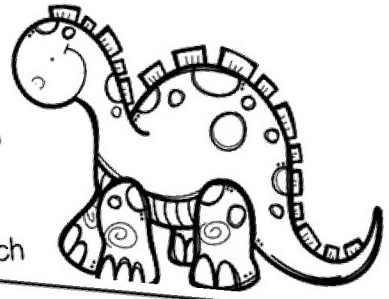

Brachiosaurus

Brachiosaurus was big and tall! It had a long neck and a small head. Brachiosaurus walked on four long legs.

Brachiosaurus ate plants, like leaves. It lived 150 million years ago. It lived in places that are now North America and Africa.

A fun fact is that Brachiosaurus could weigh as much as 10 elephants!

Did you know that it was tall like a high building?

Brachiosaurus

Version 2

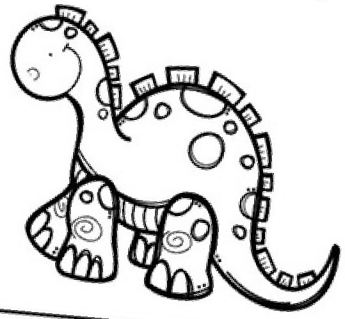

Brachiosaurus was one of the biggest dinosaurs ever! It had a long neck, long legs, and a small head. Its neck was so tall that it could reach the tops of trees to eat leaves. Brachiosaurus walked on four legs, and its front legs were longer than its back legs, which made its neck stretch even higher!

Brachiosaurus ate only plants, like l… was called a herbivore. Brac… time called the Jurassic Per… and Africa.

…rees. It didn't eat meat, so it …0 million years ago, during a …es that are now North America

Preview

A fun fact is that Brachiosaurus could weigh as much as 10 elephants! It had to eat almost all day to stay full because it was so big. Did you know that it was as tall as a four-story building? Its long neck helped it reach the tallest trees so it could eat leaves that other dinosaurs couldn't reach.

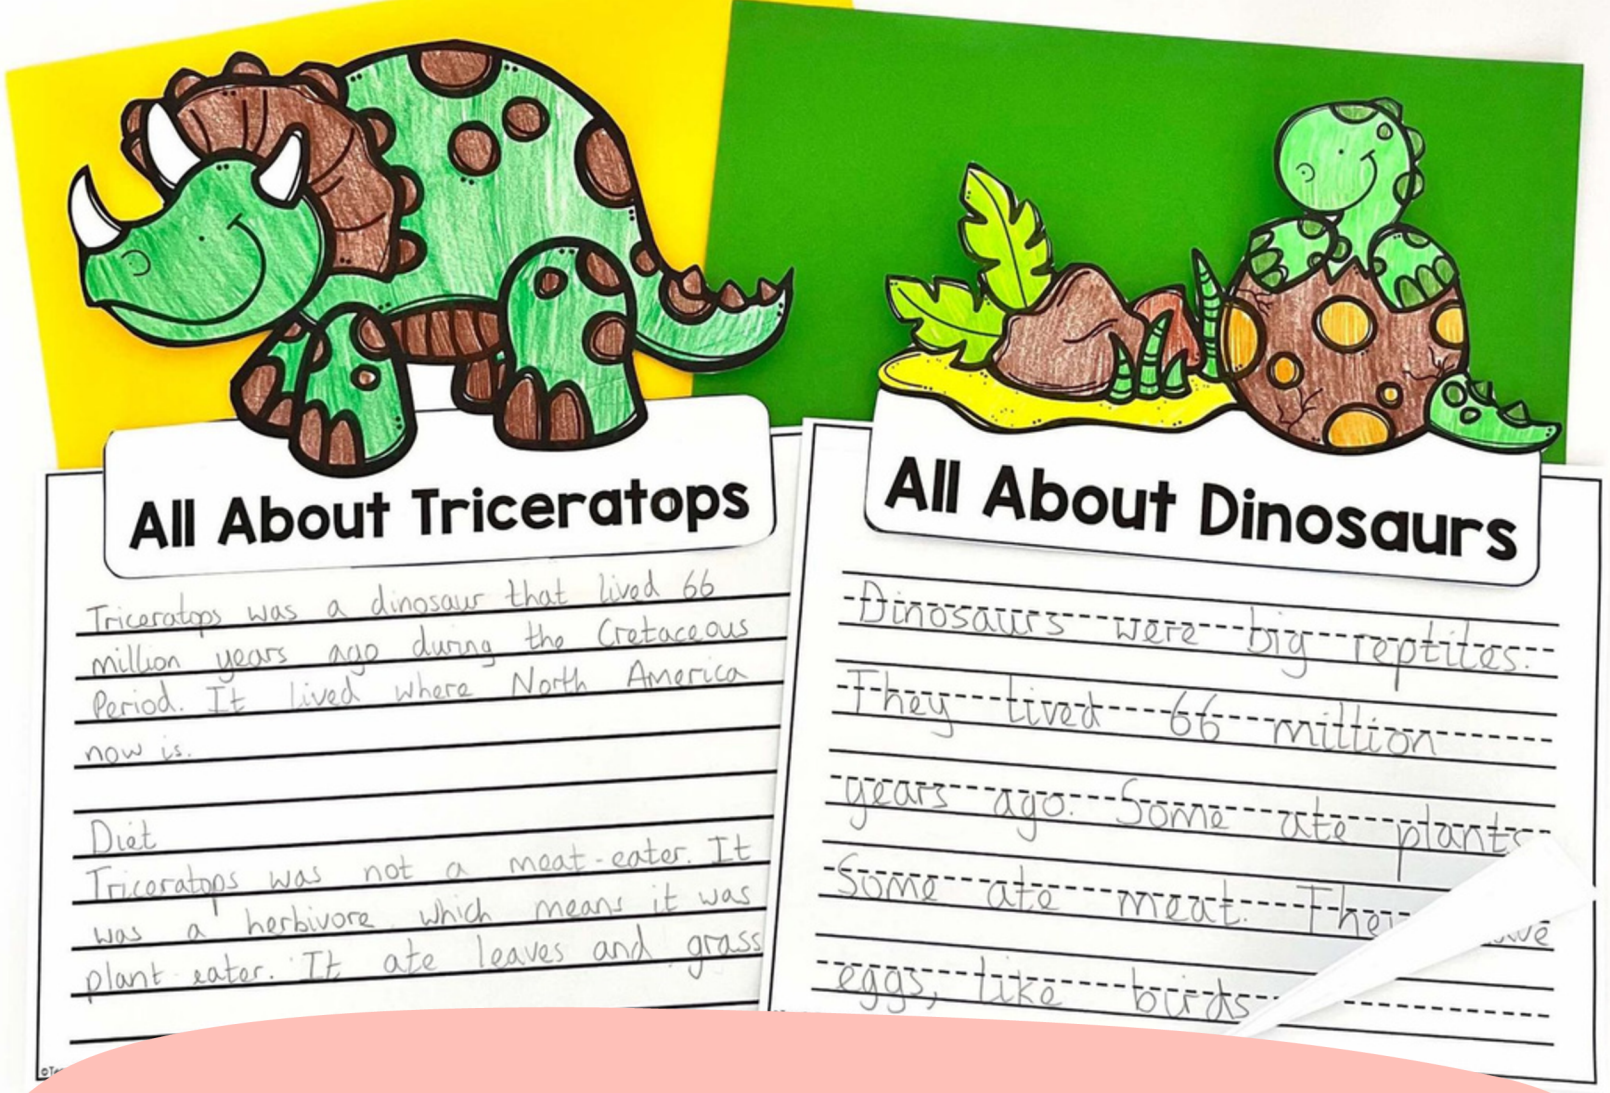

©Terrific Teaching Tactics

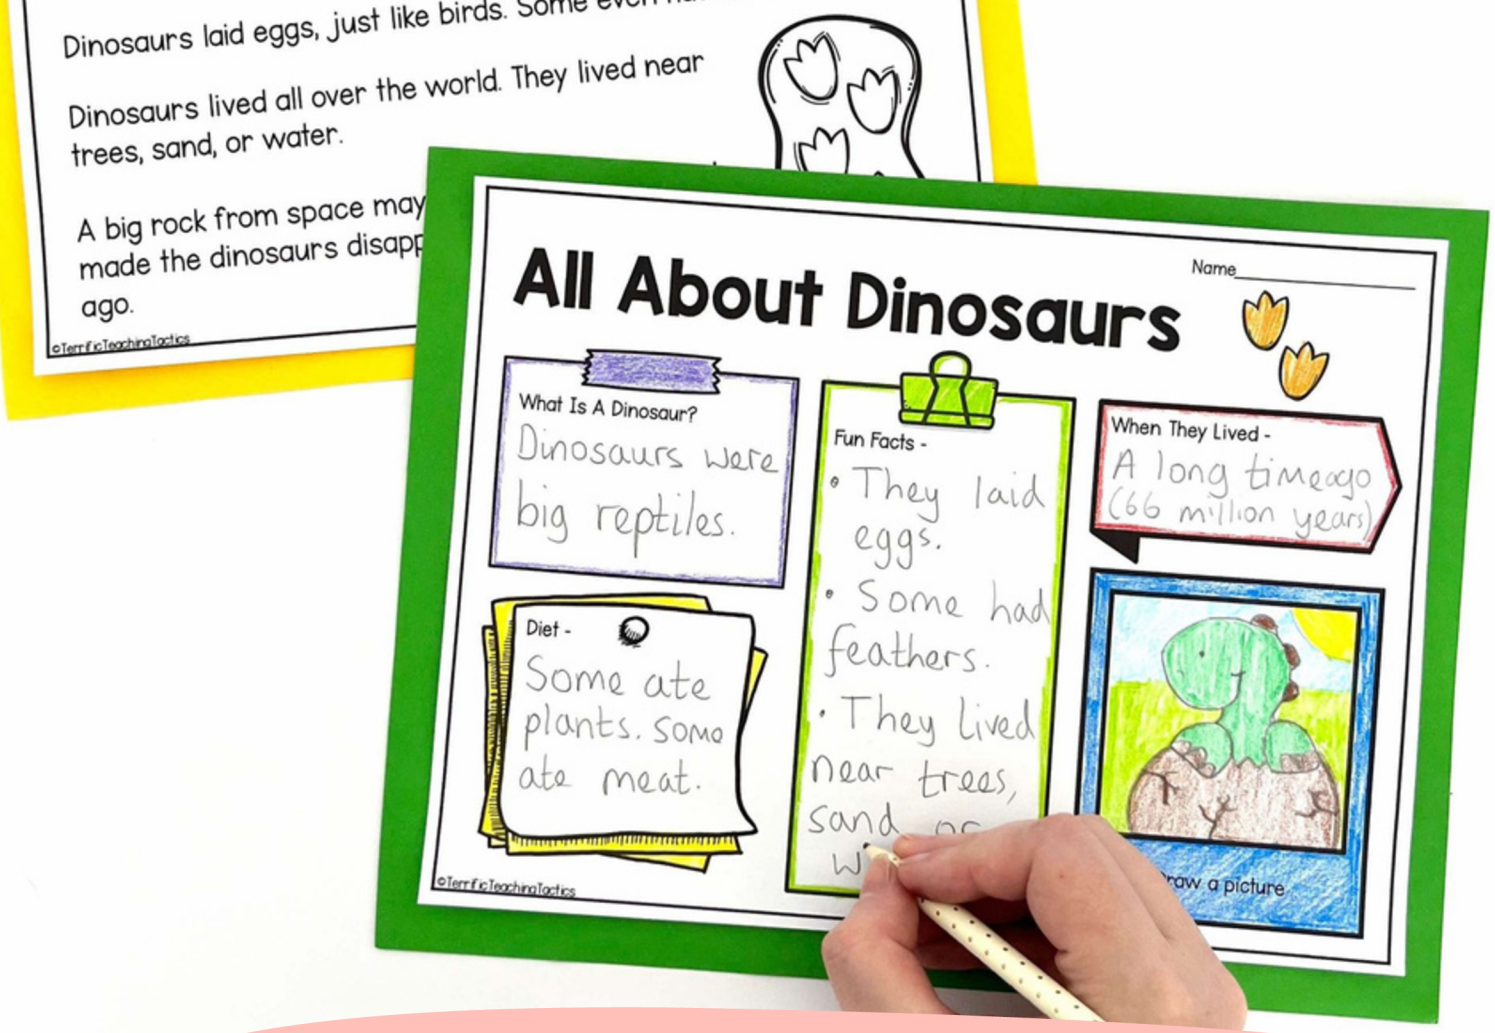

There are 5 passages. Each passage comes in two versions. Version 1 is a simplified text. Version 2 has more detail and slightly more complex vocabulary.

Students can take notes from the passage or do their own research on the graphic organizers. There's even a blank version for any dinosaur!

The lined pages for the craft come in two versions, dotted and plain. Students can glue extra pages underneath and write as much as they like.

Grab this research project today. Your students will have so much fun, they'll forget they are learning!